HARRISON AND ROBERT'S SHAKE
...after city votes are counted at fire station poll.

Dr. Grady

To be on

Ballot

As voters statewide selected Jack Eckard Tuesday to be the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate race in November, and Democrats sent Bill Gunter into a runoff with either Richard Pettigrew or Richard Stone, Dr. John Grady received official notice he would be on the ballot.

Grady said Wednesday morning he received a telephone call Tuesday afternoon, even as voters were streaming to the polls, from Florida's Secretary of Elections Dorothy Glisson.

He said Mrs. Glisson didn't give him an official tally of the number of signatures to a statewide petition to have the American Party placed on the general election ballot, which had been validated, but he had received more than enough.

He said he gathered about 130,000 signatures to the ballot, the Belle Glade physician said. "And at the last count, about 107,000 had been validated."

"Now the people will have a clear choice in November," Grady added.

The American Party decided in January it wanted Grady to represent the party in the U.S. Senate race for the seat now occupied by Sen.

Sam Adams a Jittery Devil?

By Jerome Turk & Edw. Walsh

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12, 1774 - To his bitter opponents at the first continental Congress, Samuel Adams must appear as a kind of jittery Machiavellian devil.

Adams speaks rarely on the floor at Carpenter's Hall. He has beeded advice to cool his reputation as a Boston rabblerouser and radical, which preceded him here.

A relatively poor man, Sam Adams nevertheless arrived in style. He was aboard a handsome four-horse carriage with liveried attendants & he was new wig - alibited by friends.

By day, Sam Adams keeps low profile, far from the flurry of correspondence he sends & receives by special couriers from Massachusetts.

By evening in the taverns and parlors of America's largest city, Adams moves both shakily & surely in his element.

The stocky 52-year-old Bostonian has a way. The cover of his head & hands is accented by the dancing candlelight to create a halo. Adams corners key Virginia representatives, hoping to get them to lead Congressional support for embroiled Boston. Crazy shadows play on that solemn face slashed with strong brows overhanging penetrating blue eyes.

"He eats little, drinks little, sleeps little, thinks much & is most decisive & indomitable in the pursuit of his objects," says Joseph Galloway of Pennsylvania, who is emerging as the leader of the loyalist faction at this assembly.

Unlike most of the delegates including Galloway, Samuel Adams seems to seek fame & fortune for his political efforts. He is a history of failure, but not as a politician. A graduate of Harvard '40 he failed as a merchant & did such a lax & lenient job over eight years as His Majesty's tax collector that he was accused of embezzling 7,000 pounds.

Adams has been a thorn in the side of British authorities in Massachusetts for many years. Yet Gen.

Thomas Gage, the crusty military governor, discovered that he cannot be bribed with a civil appointment nor turned back from his unrelenting attacks on British oppression.

It's true that Samuel Adams "eats little and drinks little" but it's equally true that his more convivial cousin, John, 38, doesn't always resemble Sam in those habits at the extravagant dinners given by open-handed Philadelphians.

A few evenings ago, long after Sam had said goodnight, John remained to enjoy the party. Later, the younger Adams cordially invited us to stop by at the lodgings of the Massachusetts men.

Punt, Pass, Kick

Applications to enter the annual punt, pass and kick competition, scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Oct. 5 this year, are now being accepted at Watson Ford.

Watson Ford salesmen Clarence Throop said the competition will be divided into six age groups representing youngsters ranging in ages from 10 to 18.

"The contestants will have to wear tennis shoes this year," Throop said. "That's what the rules call for if the competition goes that the local level as we're going to make the same requirements."

He said no money is involved in the competition but those placing first, second or third in each group will receive trophies and the first place winners will go on to further eliminations.

Punt, pass and kick is sponsored and organized by the Ford Motor Co. and the contests measure the accuracy and range of the competitors in their ability to punt, pass and placekick a football.

Ford's Idea

Ford didn't have a better idea Sunday. As a matter of fact, it was a downright poor idea to give an executive pardon to former President Richard Nixon, especially when he hadn't even been brought to trial (and may not have been.)

After all, they lost their job too, and Dean even served justice by blowing the whistle on the rest of the gang...and he's now serving a one to four year sentence.

If Mr. Ford wanted to serve the interests of mercy and humanism by giving Nixon of even having a hearing about standing trial, why not go all the way and grant clemency and pardon to everyone involved in the whole Watergate mess, right down to the "plumbers" themselves.

That would be compassion...if not justice.

We Called it

While you are reading this after the election is over, the following prediction is being made more than forty-eight hours before people start going to the polls. If nationwide 40 per cent of the eligible voters go to the polls Tuesday, we will be presently surprised. Locally, in our city election we might top the 50 per cent mark. If we go much higher than that, once again, we will be pleasantly surprised.

The power of your vote can only be felt if it is used. You cannot sit back and complain to the city, county, state and federal government if you sit back in election time and let the other person go to the polls.

The great country of ours is being run by a vocal minority. We have let it happen again this past Tuesday.

Because you don't go to the polls and because the wrong people are going to get into office because of this, one day you won't be allowed to vote.

And when that day comes you won't even be allowed to complain. That day's a lot closer than all of you think.

Think about that coming Tuesday in the runoffs and on Nov. 5 during the general election.

Cracker Goes Country—High Country

They would lo-

No sooner did I get back into town from a two-week vacation than I hear the characters around the office were making book I didn't make it any further than New Orleans.

I'd gotten to talking to Glenn before I left, with original plans to head to the Rockies after a year of putting up with the likes of him. I figured I needed as much of a change as I could find and a Colorado Rocky Mountain High sounded just fine.

But Glenn didn't think I'd make it past the fleshpots of Nouvelle Orleans. O, ye of little faith!

Course the truth of the matter is that I couldn't have decided to stay in New Orleans if I'd wanted to. Man, that is one expensive city.

So I did manage to tear away and take in a sizable chunk of these United States...and boy, was it a treat!

I hadn't been west of the Mississippi quite a few years and I'd forgotten just how big that country is out there. Truth to tell, I'd never actually seen the high plains or the Rockies.

But if a lot of things were the same, some things were pleasantly different...like the price of beef and gas. Go-juice for the Maroon Machine was a dime cheaper a gallon in some places in Texas and Oklahoma.

And in Colorado, I just happened to stumble across a restaurant that seemed the biggest chunk of beef I've ever seen when I ordered prime ribs of beef. They called it the cattlemen's cut and it must have weighed in at around three pounds. It's the first time I've ever ordered a single serving of beef I wasn't able to finish off...and that is going some.

CRACKER
BY DEAN JONES

The whole meal came to less than five dollars too.

Then in Amarillo, I saw one sign that would have to be a challenge to beef-lovers.

There was a restaurant there named the Big Tex that offered a steak dinner free of charge—if you could eat the whole thing. I'll guarantee though, that if you take 'em up on it, you better bring the Alka Seltzer along.

The steak dinner they're talking about weighs in at 72 ounces! No matter what the man says, that ain't small potatoes. Too bad it wasn't dinner time.

Tell ya one thing though. When I hit New Mexico there was no mistaking it for Florida. Crossed the 100°-ruler at a little place called Texline, two miles northwest of Amarillo.

Just as I made a turn west on the main drag (I think it was the only drag) in Texline there was the first mountain. Just a little further, I ran into the first of several road-side signs warning of snow plow moving with or against traffic. This was one cracker who knew he wasn't home. But after the heat of August in the Glades, the weather was fine. Even ran into snow in one place in Colorado. Never thought I'd enjoy seeing that stuff again, but there you go.

Have to admit, like everyone else seems to say, though, it sure was nice to get home again, and I hadn't been home in the Glades five minutes before I ran into Bert Roehmer at the Post Office and he told me he was glad to see me back.

Things like that make me know you're home...and I didn't even know he knew I'd been gone.

Matter of fact, I haven't even been back in town three hours as I'm writing this and I've already found a few changes have been made.

Like the addition of another

Neal to the South Bay City

Commission, well, actually it's another O'Neal. Oughts make it interesting at the commission meetings with O'Neal and Woody O'Neal. I need two parking spaces up three-fifths of the commission not to mention Virginia Walker sitting in as the city clerk.

But if there was an addition on the commission, actually two with Don Tanner (Welcome aboard, Don! and lots back, you'll probably need it), one friend did sneak out of the Glades while I was gone when Bill Hunter resigned from the Sugar Cane League.

Understand the superball Rambler is still in the Glades, though. Course that's only to be expected. The Maroon Machine is going all the way this year. Fearless prediction from a former winning coach...of one game at least.

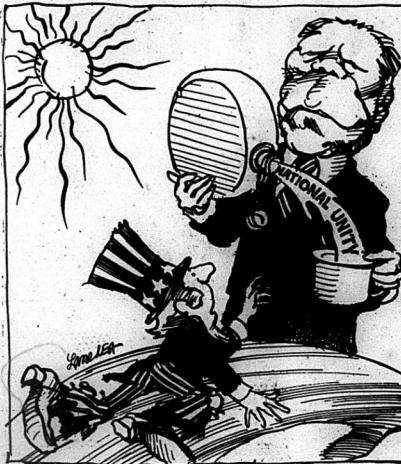

Found out one thing we have in common with people all over the country. I don't know when I've heard so many people griping so loud about power bills.

I guess the loudest how-raws I heard were in North Carolina and Jacksonville. Heard one guy yelling about the fuel adjustments Duke Power is charging up in the tarheel state (and Duke uses coal, lots of oil) and the coal right around and support the coal miners on strike who are trying to get higher wages that's bound to run the price of coal up.

But Jacksonville was something else. There seemed to be the atmosphere of impending revolt in the Bold New City of the South. I mean, people were up in arms about the situation. I don't think I've ever seen so many taxpayers mad about electric bills.

I guess the grass isn't always greener on the other side of the fence.

with Glenn LANEY

I've really tried to stay out of this fight because I am personally involved.

But enough is enough. When you have to stand in line for a golf cart at 10 a.m. on a Saturday morning that's getting a bit ridiculous.

If the city is going to run the municipal golf course then run it right. Let the people involved in a city commission meeting haggle over golf cart contracts and then in the end appoint another committee to study the problem a little more.

The problem exists now. The city has about 18 golf carts and half of them don't work while the other half are broke!

More than one group gave up in frustration this past weekend and either hoofed it to Clewiston or headed for the coast to play golf.

Besides not having nearly enough carts, the course is in terrible shape. Half the greens aren't fit to putt on. The rest are at best.

Golf is one of the recreational facilities we have in Belle Glade. It's a shame we are subjected to such third rate management by the city.

Right now we have a whole hog while I sit at it. How about a group such as the Chamber of Commerce or even the city—finding some suitable land to swap with the owner of the land directly across 717 from the existing golf course.

Swap enough land to provide for a driving range and nine more holes. Spend enough money to keep the course in good shape. And get the right contract to provide enough carts for play at the heaviest time of the year.

It will be an investment—a steep one. But it will be an investment which will pay back many times over in the future.

As golf continues to grow in popularity and the year round population of the Glades continues to grow—a well run 18-hole golf course with a lighted driving range can be a tremendous attraction.

We could even ear mark part of the profits toward building a new sewer system or even a new city hall.

This is being written before the election Tuesday, but will not see the light of print until Thursday. So it may never be seen. But I'm sure you can be thinking "What's this?"

We could even ear mark part of the profits toward building a new sewer system or even a new city hall.

Bob McBain slipped into Belle Glade early Wednesday morning to see if he could buy a little advertising space.

Bob is tilting at perhaps the biggest windmill in Florida. He's running against the super-popular Paul Rogers who hasn't lost an election over ten years.

"I don't expect to win," said McBain. "But at least I can shake up a few people over on the coast."

We chatted for a few minutes and the man has an excellent sense of humor. He knows he's up against the impossible, but at least he has the sense to admit it, rather than trying to con people into believing he really has a chance.

And when your opponent is predicted to get 80 per cent of the vote what else can you do but laugh.

I had very interesting experience this summer which I wouldn't trade for the world. I helped coach and then for part of the season was the head coach for a girl's softball team.

Since all the good coaches were on vacation during the All Star games, they finally had to ask me to be one of the coaches. So, it wasn't an earned honor—just a honor.

I had a group of girls handed to me who I'm sure deserved the name of "all stars." They were a fantastic bunch.

The first game we played we edged the other all-star team 3-2, scoring two runs in the bottom of the seventh to pull it out. When you have a slow pitch softball game ending up 3-2, you know the two teams involved have played tremendously well.

Then we played the all-star team of the league. Timers, the all-star final team was 12-7 in favor of the all-stars. They gave up all seven runs in the first three innings, but then settled down to shut out the no. 1 team in the last four innings, allowing but one hit.

The loss should in no way tarnish the season for Timers. They had a tremendous group of girls who won through the season losing only one game.

This is truly an intriguing experience working with these women athletes who ranged in age from about 16 to at least 45 or so. They are intelligent, active women who know there is more to enjoying life than just the ordinary, numdrone fare so often dished out.

Commission Discuss Library

City Manager William Mallery said, "I see discipline where the city manager staff is having a problem maintaining a clean library."

Mallery said the problem seems to stem from the unruly behavior of children and teenagers while in the library and said, "What was taught has been removed because staff members thought it was a factor in the problem."

Upon questioning by the commissioners, Mallery said the librarian, Mrs. Elizabeth Lalios, and her staff, had reported the problem in some times gets beyond their ability to cope with it.

"I really don't think this is a commission problem," Grady said.

All-Stars Whip Timesaver

The All Stars beat Timesaver, the top team in the women's softball league, 12-7 Wednesday night to close out the season.

The traditional finale pits 14 of the top players in the league against the All Stars each year. The "A" All Star team had earned the right to meet Timesaver by beating the "B" All Star team 3-2 the previous week.

Timesaver got off to a fast start, scoring seven runs in the first three innings on eight hits and three errors by the All-Stars.

But the All Stars settled down after the third and shut out Timesaver on just one more hit for the last four innings.

Two big innings, the second and the sixth, proved to be the turning margin for the All Stars. They scored five runs in each inning to go along with single runs in the fifth and seventh.

NOTICE OF MILLAGE DECREASE

The Southwestern Palm Beach County Public Hospital District proposes to decrease the millage rate in said District by 12%.

A public hearing on the decrease will be held on September 17, 1974 in the Board Room of Glades General Hospital.

said, "Use discipline where possible. If that doesn't work, throw them out, and if they refuse to go, call the police."

He quipped, "because Mr. (Commissioner) Bill Bailey would put them in the publication on the shelves?"

Grady was referring to the commission's refusal some two years ago to allow the library to subscribe to the publication Playboy Magazine.

In another discussion, the commission failed to take action on whether or not the city should sweep up private parking lots.

After discussing the proposed rate of $15 per hour for sweeping lots made by Mallery after being directed at the last commission meeting to make a study of what the city should charge, Commissioner Bill Kline moved to check with businesses in town to see if they would pay a reasonable charge to have their lots swept.

His motion failed for lack of a second after each of the four commissioners present expressed a different attitude from the other three.

Commissioner Bill Bailey said he wasn't in favor of using the city equipment to make the sweep while Grady said he could be shown the city's fiscal situation.

Mayor Aubrey Farmer repeated his views from the last meeting. He said he feels the city should sweep the lots and charge a reasonable fee.

After discussing the argument on the fact the city mows grass in vacant lots at no charge.

"We're going to wind up with big piles of grass in the parking lots anyway," he argued, "and they're going to sweep it into the streets anyway for us to clean up."

Kirk said he thought the city should offer the service but should make "a reasonable charge" for it...and should also charge for mowing vacant lots.

In other action, the commission:

•Agreed, almost as an afterthought, to purchase the Hugo Theatre property on West Avenue from Gold-Dobro Inc. of Pahokee for one dollar.

•Directed the city attorney, the city manager and the city finance director to meet with representatives of Pierces, Wulbern, Murphy, Inc. Investors, Inc., located in Orlando, to work out the details of an agreement for the firm to act as the city's fiscal agent in a proposed bond issue of approximately $25 million.

The firm will be floated for the purpose of improving the city's sewer and water systems.

•City Attorney John Baker said the letter of agreement he recently received from the firm is a professional instrument meant to cover only a broad outline of the agreement.

Baker said that type of agreement couldn't be reduced to black and white on an agreement; that it would call for mutual understanding and cooperation but both parties would be involved.

•Passed a resolution establishing an Airport Advisory Committee to advise the commission on the operation of the Belle Glade Airport recently built by the city.

The committee will be made up of five members serving staggered three-year terms at no salary.

•Followed the lead of Lake Worth by involving the state transportation department in those in Palm Beach County, form a program designed to keep tabs on state and federal legislation affecting cities and the trend toward centralization of government.

•Passed a resolution allowing the city department heads, with the approval of the city manager, make contracts up to the value of $100, instead of the present $25 limit, without bringing them before the commission.

•Decided to do some more study on a proposal prohibiting the parking of buses, trucks and other commercial vehicles on city streets in residential areas.

•Appointed Hyatt as permanent and David Hill to the city's civil service board.

•Refused to extend the contract of Big Four Contracting Co. in the streetwork that company is doing in the city's Neighborhood Development Program.

Big Four had already requested, and received, three extensions totalling 108 days because of rainy weather. The last extension expired Aug. 29 and the company was asking for another 108 days.

The commission was asked for a field a public hearing, at which no one gave any views on annexing and zoning the Belle Glade Airport into the city limits.

More Healthy Babies Are Coming

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of an irregular series on bio-medical science written at the Harvard School of Medicine as a public service. The Harvard staff is asked to take the same questions we have: Are today's newspaper readers interested in occasional articles on medicine and medical problems as seen from the research point of view? Let us know what you think.

By Lloyd Guppill
Harvard Medical Writer

Parents who want the best possible chances that their children will be born healthy now have recourse to an increasing number of laboratories in the United States specialized in the prenatal detection of birth defects.

One of the earliest of these laboratories was opened four years ago under the direction of Dr. Edward Milunsky at the Walter E. Fernald State School (for the mentally retarded) in Waltham, Mass.

Dr. Milunsky, an Assistant Professor of Genetics at the Harvard Medical School, is an often consulted expert in pre-natal diagnosis.

Special techniques developed by Dr. Milunsky, and other geneticists include numerous tests designed to predict for genetic defects before an infant is born. Most tests are based on the analysis of cells, from the fetus, obtained by a routine procedure called amniocentesis, the drawing off of a sample of amniotic fluid from the uterus.

This can be done under local anesthesia, in an obstetrician's office. Scientists, in like manner, can predict the sex of the fetus.

Many genetic diseases show abnormalities in these amniotic fluid cells which are identical to those in other body cells.

There are very few cells (about two teaspoonsful) in the small amount of fluid taken.

The laboratory uses them to start an additional population thus ensuring there are enough for use in the various tests for different types of abnormality.

One test involves examination of the chromosomes; the chromosomes, the nucleus of every cell. In humans there are 46 chromosomes (23 pairs). If there are not 46 something is wrong. Too few, for example, may mean dwarfism.

Sometimes, chromosomes will occur in threes instead of in pairs. This condition is called trisomy. The discovery of trisomy in a pair No. 21 means that the infant will be mongoloid, a common form of abnormality. Mongolism is most likely when the mother is over 35.

In addition to chromosomal anomalies there is an important class known as the sexual-linked disorders - so called because the defective gene on one of the two chromosomes that determine sex. Although the mother can carry the faulty gene, in most cases the sex-linked disorders only appear among 50 per cent of male offspring. The diseases include hemophilia, certain types of mental retardation and one type of muscular dystrophy.

The study of fetal cells can help in these cases because it makes possible a sure prediction of the sex of the child. The gene that affects the male child in these cases come from the mother.

Some inherited diseases are quite common as sickle cell anemia (a defect in blood hemoglobin), and cystic fibrosis. Both belong to a third class of defects that are due to specific chemical abnormalities.

The gene controlling the formation of a crucial protein or enzyme is defective. If it can be shown that a single gene has this same faulty gene there is risk, and prenatal detection of a possible ailment is in order. With these biochemical deficiency diseases the test is made on the fetus. In sickle cell anemia and cystic fibrosis a positive diagnosis before birth is not yet possible.

Genetic counsellors must rely on predictions of risk based on tests to determine if the parents are carriers. Some diseases, however, are biochemical disorder, can be definitely diagnosed in the fetus. This fatal illness of the brain and nervous system is usually not apparent at birth.

But often at birth, muscular control deteriorates; deafness and blindness usually follow. Children with Tay-Sach's disease rarely live past the fifth year. Tay-Sach's disease is usually diagnosed before birth than any other genetic defect.

To predict gross congenital anomalies such as the absence of limbs or an extra one, there must be a way to visualize the unborn child. One useful technique is ultrasound. Sounds of very high frequency, having passed through mother and fetus, are reflected on specialized material that a trained eye can read as a picture.

Also, there are ways of putting dye into the amniotic fluid so that it can be more clearly pictured on an X-ray. This is particularly useful in predicting spina bifida. It is even possible to look directly at an embryo in the womb by introducing a specially adapted optical instrument into the uterus. The doctor can illuminate and observe the fetus through a tube. He can even take photographs and make movies.

Obviously these developments have a great potential for reducing suffering, and also for reducing the considerable cost society now incurs in dealing with birth defects after they occur.

Dr. Milunsky is concerned with both these sides of the issue. He recognizes and is emphatic that parents have full right to confidentiality and confidentiality is important when they seek genetic counseling. The possibility of routine genetic screening to find carriers even before pregnancy implies the same kind of obligations.

On my place, we run engines from eight different manufacturers. And, it's nice to know that when one stops running, my local NAPA Jobber has the parts I need to get it going again. Chances are he has in stock what I need for all of them, not to mention a big variety of tools, paints and farm/ranch supplies. But, if he's ever out, he gets what I need overnight. That's one service that's hard to find anywhere else.

NOW IS THE TIME

My Friends:

Many people in Belle Glade were surprised when I recently qualified to run for the City Commission. Their surprise was understandable as I discussed this decision with no one other than my family. As much as I would have valued prior consultation with my friends and community leaders, I felt it would be improper to discuss a potential candidacy for the City Commission while maintaining a position as a City employee. Hopefully, none of my friends were surprised by my sincere concern for this town and its people which prompted my decision to run.

I would like to share with you some ideas on the previously undiscussed issues:

(1) Water and Sewer Improvements - the City's engineers are drawing plans and specifications for extensive water and sewer improvements at this very moment. Within the next six months major decisions will have to be made on these proposed projects, including method of financing, scheduling, scope of improvements, customer rate structure, and contractual procedures for construction. I am familiar with the water and sewer system, both from an engineering standpoint and as a practical matter. I feel the City should take all necessary action to insure the most environmentally acceptable sewer system possible, while at the same time take a hard line with regulatory agencies which, through unreasonable attitudes, cripple the housing and building industry in Belle Glade.

(2) Housing - the insufficient supply of adequate housing in our community is becoming an increasingly disturbing problem, due in part to the building moratorium. Hopefully, sewer improvements will soon release our builders to begin adding to the housing market. Furthermore, some of the older structures in Belle Glade need improvements, which can be accomplished by joint efforts of the City and private enterprise. President Ford recently signed into law the Community Development Act which could provide considerable funding to the City for financing of these improvements. This is a new type program, without the customary "federal strings" attached, and would give broad discretionary powers to the City Commission on the allocation of this money. I have followed this program from its inception and am prepared to make knowledgeable decisions on this program.

(3) City Hall and Fire Station - I support the construction of a new city hall and fire station. I qualify this statement only by saying it should be within budgetary limitations as established by a long range financing plan. Ten years ago a new city hall was labeled "top priority" by the City's leaders at that time. The need has increased drastically in the last few years. The Police Department is in embarrassing shape and the working conditions there are almost unbearable. The existing fire station and city hall should be remodeled to create an adequate police complex. City offices should be combined in one building with facilities to properly serve the citizens. The Fire Department needs additional space to house our firefighting equipment and to provide training areas. I would not support any of these improvements if it would mean the sacrificing of necessary sewer improvements. I am convinced that satisfactory city hall construction and sewer improvements can both be accomplished in an orderly fashion.

(4) Beautification - the City government and its citizens must work together on the beautification of our town. We can make Belle Glade an attractive community—one in which we can all be proud to live. I would support the creation of a special City crew to deal solely with beautification projects, including landscaping, junk car removal, weed and litter control, and cooperative efforts with private beautification projects.

During my 18 years in Belle Glade I have come to know many of you and I can't imagine a better group of people anywhere. We have so much potential in this town of ours. Let us work together and do the things I know we're capable of.

Sincerely,

Thomas Altman

Eugene Harrison The People's Candidate

Dear Citizen,

Recently an article listed in the Palm Beach Post stated that a public hearing will be held Wednesday to increase your property tax. The article dated Sept. 11, 1974, said the hearing will be Sept. 18, 1974, one day after the election.

Pull lever 2A and you will be pulling for:

1. No increase on property taxes
2. City sewerage and water
3. City streets
4. City expansion
5. No new city hall
6. Addition to McDonald Annex
7. Low cost housing & city municipal trailer park

I am by far the more qualified candidate for this seat, which has been shown. I out pulled every candidate in the commission race, including the newly elected Jerry Roberts.

Now I ask the question, why not keep it that way? Pull lever 2A.

KNOW YOUR CANDIDATE

Eugene Harrison was born in South Bay, Florida in 1938. His childhood days were spent in the nearby community of Lake Harbor on a United Sugar Corporation Camp. He attended Rosenwald Elementary School and graduated from Lake Shore High School in Belle Glade. Being mostly self-supported, he worked as a migrant laborer during his high school years.

After completing high school he volunteered for the U.S. Army where he served for four years and earned the rank of Sergeant in nineteen months. He was assigned to the Military Police and served in Germany for 37 months. He ended his military career in 1962.

Upon returning to civilian life he joined the Belle Glade Police Department as a patrolman and served for approximately three years.

Resigning from the Police Department in 1964, he enrolled in Tennessee State University in Nashville, Tennessee where he received a B.S. Degree in Construction Engineering. He then returned to Lake Shore High School as an instructor for three years. He also did graduate work at Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton, Florida where he earned a M.S. Degree in Guidance and Counseling and certified in Administration and Supervision. He is presently serving as the administrative assistant of the Community Action Migrant Program in the Glades Area.

He is married to Josephine Harrison, a guidance counselor at Gove Elementary School. They have three children, Malcolm 6, Michelle 4, and Mark 2. They reside at 1241 S.W. Ave. B Place in Belle Glade.

Harrison was instrumental in getting summer jobs for 167 students in the Glades Area according to their needs regardless of race or national origin.

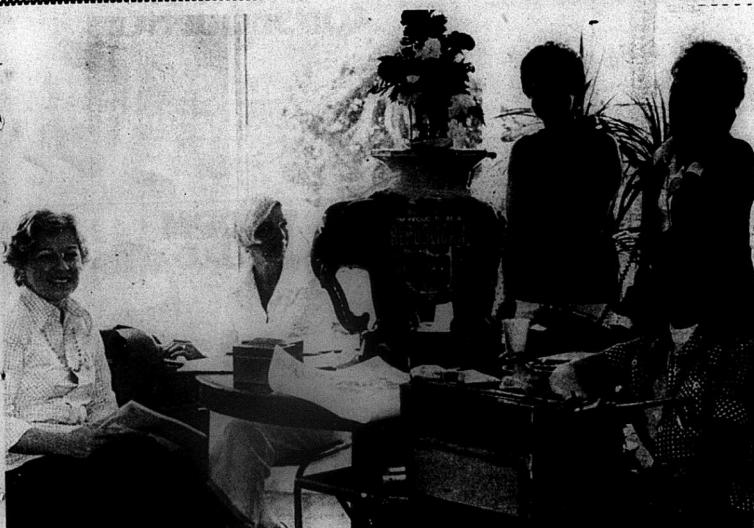

He is a member of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. Prince Hall Grand Lodge Okeechobee No. 54, and of Palm Beach County Advisory Board to the Board of County Commissioners.

Harrison is totally committed to using his best talents and energies to help Belle Glade become a progressive Model City for all, from the very young to the senior citizens. He feels that this is possible in terms of the total community development and in the area of human relations.

Vote! Vote!

Belle Glade voters were particularly busy Tuesday as they were required to cast their ballots not only in the first primary election, being held statewide, but to join in the selection of two new-at-large city commissioners to join the city commission. Early turnout at the precincts covering the county-wide election was light but a quick trip by the Belle Glade Fire Department revealed a horde of a different sort gathered outside the polling place, jamming the precinct where they decided on the succession to the seats held by Dr. John Grady and W.R. "Ralph" Kirk. On the other hand, five ladies were working at the Glades Republican Club headquarters on S.E. Ave. E to ensure there would be an even larger voter turnout in the second primary and the general election.

Stein Wins Conservation Award

Fritz Stein Jr., a life-long resident of Belle Glade, has received national Soil Conservationist of the Year by the Florida Wildlife Federation in cooperation with Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Stein received the award for taking the lead in soil conservation activities when he introduced the planting of rice as a cover crop to replenish and rebuild the soil in the Glades.

Stein was nominated by the Palm Beach-Broward Soil and Water Conservation District according to Don Vandegrift, District director in Lake Worth.

"Actually," Vandegrift said, "Fritz's father was using rice as a cover crop before he died but that wasn't the only reason we nominated him."

"The real reason we selected him," he said, "was for the conservation work he's done over the years in Palm Beach and Broward Counties."

Stein served eight years on the Agriculture Subsidiary Conservation Service Committee (REAP) in which this agency cost-shares with land owners for private conservation installations.

While serving on this committee he helped to establish a new called deer vetch, which builds soil, furnishes feed for livestock and produces feed for deer and wildlife.

He took the lead in planting this cover crop in the Big Cypress National Preserve as deer food. Since that time, many wildlife lovers have planted the deer vetch from the information received from Stein.

of yellow mums and black accents carried out the sorority colors and was given to the chapter sponsor, Mrs. Willie Lee.

Afterwards many plans were discussed for the 1974/75 year.

Those members attending were: Mrs. Kirby Norman, Mrs. Buddy Whitehurst, Mrs. Edward Brumley, Mrs. Robert Davis, Mrs. Gien Angel, Mrs. Paul Prescott, Mrs. Ed Rongione, Mrs. Bob Carter, and Mrs. Willie Lee, chapter sponsor.

Beware on Deals On House Siding

Because of the year-around heat, the high humidity and, in many areas, salt water air, Florida homes are subjected to tremendous climatic abuse. Who can blame a disgruntled homeowner for being vulnerable to the offer of a low-cost, free, stay-beautiful aluminum house siding at a ridiculous low promotion price?

The usual pitch is to tell you that your home has been used in an advertising program and in consideration of your cooperation, you can buy aluminum siding at a greatly reduced price, explains E. McMahon, assistant director of the Florida Division of Consumer Services.

McMahon warned prospective buyers of siding to be especially wary of the cut "crisis" information forms.

These may be so cleverly designed that you think simply providing information is all you're doing. Then he even begins to talk about an interested party filling out what he thought was a credit form but which turned out to be a second mortgage on his home; a fact realized by the homeowner only when he is faced with foreclosure proceedings.

Homeowners should be very cautious when dealing or even talking from out of town, or even from out of state, despite the fact that they claim to represent well-known and reputable aluminum firms.

"If you're thinking of having siding put on your house, deal with an established local firm, get the names of some of their customers and check with them about the quality of workmanship, warranties and quality generally," he said.

"And be extremely leery of any offer to do the job at what seems to be an unbelievably low price."

"It's the same old story of not getting anything for nothing," McMahon said. "We've said it many times but it's not a valid yardstick if you think something sounds too good to be true, chances are you're right."

Whatever the product, McMahon urged consumers to read all contracts carefully and to be cautious of any contracts written in very small type and in vague, legalistic language.

"Consumers should also be aware that the seller of the contracts signed anywhere but in the seller's place of business to include the buyer's right to cancel clause," he said. "This gives the buyer the right to cancel the contract within three working days after the contract is signed."

"The clause guarantees the buyer the right to cancel the contract within three days without penalty," McMahon said. "This is fine with legitimate sellers but the guys and con artists who operate on the fringes of the law will skip the cancellation with your money and all you can do is be thankful you weren't taken for more."

For additional information or to file a complaint, call or write the Division of Consumer Services, Florida Department of Agriculture & Consumer Services, Tallahassee, Florida 32304.

Hints for Food Shoppers

In these days of runaway food prices, general inflation, and well-meaning complications like unit pricing, there's no doubt that American food shopper needs all the help she (or he) can get.

Such help sometimes comes from quite unlikely sources. You might expect help from your employer, food processors, civic organizations, and the like, but not from a big electronics manufacturer.

Expectations to the contrary, Casio, one of the pioneer electronic calculators, money has come up with a calculator's dozen ways to help stretch the shrinking supermarket dollar.

Insurance Corner

By Milton Carpenter

WHY WORRY

Mark Twain once said, "I am an old man and have known many troubles, but most of them never happened. In one sense, Mark Twain made a lot of sense. We worry about things which rarely happen."

But as an insurance agent, I can tell you on this subject of financial catastrophes normally strike suddenly. We seldom worry in advance about death, accident, theft, fire. But in a split second, your life can change from normalcy to disaster.

My purpose is not to request that all readers start worrying about catastrophes. Conversely, I want you NOT to worry about such things. It takes a little time and money to protect yourself from the financial and psychological devastation that can occur from a sudden personal or material loss. Why not drop into our office and discuss your needs and risks. We may not be able to prevent a calamity from happening, but we can help ease financial burden and personal anguish that will surely follow.

This information has been brought to you as a public service by your insurance professionals—the insurance agents that constitute MILTON CARPENTER INSURANCE INC., 180 S.E. Ave. C, Belle Glade. Phone 996-7211 or 996-6719. Associates Thomas B. Rumfeld and Paul Kornay.

Branch office 129 N. Lake Ave., Pahokee, Phone 924-7153. Dan Carpenter, associate.

Here they are:

1. Don't shop an empty stomach, pushing your cart around while you're hungry invariably makes you buy more food items.
2. Beware of stores that give trading stamps. You usually have to pay the cost of these giveaways, and it's usually a lot.
3. Remember that "convenience" foods—that are prepared in advance—just have to be more expensive than those you prepare for nothing.
4. Look out for packages that look big but may contain less value. Unit pricing labels are a big help here, but often the various combinations of weights and prices are so complex that a simple calculator is good idea. (Not surprisingly, Casio suggests its own "mini" calculator, which can be carried in pocket or purse as a good way to practice your arithmetic talent.)
5. Buy "store brands" whenever possible, but don't pass up name brand specials, which can often save you a substantial amount when your timing is right.
6. Pay with cash rather than by check. For one thing, the cost of check handling is less than that of the price of extra stamps. You tend to be a lot more careful about how much you spend.
7. Get to know the meaning of different types of eggs. For example, when comparing eggs of different sizes and prices use the following rule: Buy extra large rather than large eggs if the price difference per dozen is less than 1/8 the price of extra large; buy large rather than medium if the price difference is less than 1/8 the price of large; buy medium rather than small if the price difference is less than 1/8 the price of medium. Here's another case where a Casio mini calculator would make life easier.
8. Don't be talked into buying large quantities of a food item just because it is priced, let's say, "10 for 89 cents." If it's a perishable item, you are very likely to wipe out your "10" one cent saving over the price of 9 cents each by spoilage.
9. Make sure when buying meat that you take into account the cost of fat, gristle, or bone which can be eaten and which creates a false impression of the real price per pound you are paying.
10. Use your Casio calculator to keep a running total of purchases as you shop the aisles. That way you can correct any excesses before the moment of truth at the checkout.

11. Use your home freezer to keep a wide variety of specials on such perishable items as bread, meats, and so forth. You can save a lot by buying in quantity when the price is low—provided, of course, you have enough freezer space to hold your bargains.

12. Stay away from "convenience" size packages for such foods as dry rice, snack foods, and the like. A simple calculation of the comparative price per ounce will show you that you're paying more for the box or can (which you can't eat) than you are for the inside.

13. Look for the date now imprinted on many perishable foods like dairy products, baked goods, and others, to be sure you're buying things you can use and not in spite of your efforts, take it back to the store for a refund or credit.

Food shopping today is a calculated risk. Casio admits, and following the above rules and following your head should increase your chances of survival.

PBJC Enrolls 7,667 Students

Palm Beach Junior College has enrolled 7,667 students in Fall Term, the largest number of regular students in the history of the college.

The new record 596 more than the previous record enrollment of 7,071 in the Fall Term a year ago.

Increases were in both day and evening categories, with the number of day students growing by 100 and evening students by 496 from a year ago.

Enrollment at the Lake Worth campus totalled 5,649

but enrollment in the Gardens Center, Belle Glade Center and South Center, and of students with classes at more than one center became a very significant factor, totalling 1,708.

The largest number in the Center was at the Gardens center, where 560 were enrolled, but Belle Glade, where more day students are enrolled, chalked up nearly 1,000 more credit hours than the Gardens center with 398 students enrolled.

The South Center, at Florida Atlantic University, enrolled 248, while 502 students were listed as enrolling in more than one center, (usually the Lake Worth campus and one of the centers).

Another unusual feature of the enrollment was the fact that evening students, at 3,350, outnumbered day students at 3,217. This is the first such occurrence in the Fall Term.

Although outnumbered by evening students, day students continued to account for more of the total credit hours, 64,106 compared to 43,266. Part-time students account for 20,838 credit hours.

The Parson Pontificates

What's this world coming to when people won't listen to a sermon for longer than 20 minutes any more? But then, I guess there is nothing particularly religious about the length of a sermon. There are a few men I can listen to for an hour, but just about as many who can bore me in ten minutes or less. Quality is not determined by the number of words uttered or the amount of time consumed. One of the most famous speeches in American History was not more than three minutes long. (Four Score and Seven Years remember?). And the Lord's prayer can be prayed in less than a minute. Here are a couple of good rules for sermonizers: 1. Don't preach any longer than you want to listen (that is the Golden Rule, my friends). 2. When you have finished what you have to say, stop. (You may want to read Acts 20:7-12).

Money, Money

Everywhere!

The Biblical admonition, "What has thou in the house?" was never truer than to-day. If we really look see, and understand what we see, there may well be something that will generate a cash money return.

For instance, cast iron sets from casters, and manholes and taken for around $200 after rework on the decorators market. Old barn or shed siding that has been carefully removed finds a ready "market" among the so-called sophisticated decor-
